Declaration Of War May Follow Laconia Outrage

Three Americans Lost When The Laconia Was Sunk By Sub's Torpedo

Three Other Passengers And Six Members Of Crew Are Missing—Unofficial Dispatches Say Ten American Negro Seamen Were Killed—Survivor's Story.

WASHINGTON, FEB. 27.—The sinking of the Laconia without warning was a clear violation of international law and needs no further investigation, Secretary of State Lansing declared this afternoon after a conference with President Wilson at the White House.

Secretary Lansing carefully avoided speaking of the case as an "overt act" such as President Wilson has warned Germany against, but he did not conceal the fact that the administration looks upon the sinking as the most serious affront Germany has offered the United States in the ruthless campaign. He did not indicate that any drastic move is planned by the White House at present.

There was a well defined feeling in administration circles following the conference that congress may act upon the Laconia case without suggestion from the President.

LONDON, FEB. 27.—Altho forty-eight hours have elapsed since a German submarine sank the Cunard liner Laconia off the Irish coast, in the dead of night, the total number of dead and missing was still in doubt late this afternoon.

A compilation of reports from all sources indicate that the victims will total 12. Three passengers are known dead—Mrs. Mary E. Hoy and daugh-

WHAT FORM OF CHARTER IS BEST FOR OUR CITIES?

Staats Concludes Series Of Articles With Splendid Suggestions.

WHAT TO SHUN IN DRAFTING CHARTER

Old Concept Of Govt. Obsolete—Must Look to Industrial Models Now.

TOO MANY ELECTIONS

He Shows In Addenda How Far Govt. Is Outstripped By Industrial Life.

"A STUDY IN GOVERNMENT."
(by L. N. Staats)

The best charter has not been written. It will not be written while processes develop conditions and progress continues. The evolutionary ideas previously not thot of, and these in turn will compel modification of charters from time to time. The industrial processes thru the employment and direction of vast numbers of workmen are co-ordinating all industry and will in time produce a correlated and harmonious whole. This has profoundly effected our conception of the function of government. From Wall Street to Trampdom (tho for different reasons), every one feels instinctively that somehow, in some way, the government is irrevocably

Jacob McQueen's Work Is Boosted

In the February issue of The Agricultural Student published by the agricultural college of the Ohio State University appears an interesting resume of the work of Jacob McQueen, often styled the Baltic soil wizard.

The article, written by Clifford T. Conklin, of the extension department, is entitled "Jacob McQueen, Germ Farmer" and fills three pages of The Student. It is illustrated with two cuts, one showing Mr. McQueen's home and another showing a field of soy beans produced by innoculation of soil by germs.

The article reviews McQueen's work from the time when he purchased the Rigby farm at $50 an acre nine years ago and had to keep it because he "could not sell out." It tells of his failures in raising legumes until he tried soy beans and inoculated the soil and succeeded in fertilizing the soil to such an extent that the farm could not now be bought at $100 an acre, and how McQueen himself, instead of dying as prophesied by his physicians, now rugged and strong, is preaching the gospel of farming with germs.

Final Touches Are Being Added To New Reservoir; To Be Tested Out At Once

Final touches are being made to the city's new 3,000,000 gallon reservoir and the first test for leaks will be made this week by Mr. Lynch, representative of the Pitt Construction company, and other officials.

Mr. Lynch stated last evening that only a few minor details remain to be taken care of, such as placing waterproof pitch in crevices and retouching parts of the concrete. As soon as the workmen have completed the last detail the valves will be opened and excess water from the old reservoir will be turned into the new one

To Be Tested Soon.

The first test will be made for possible leaks at or below the key-way, which will necessitate a depth of about two feet of water. An official stated that if there was any chance for a leak it would likely be at the key-way, which was poured first.

Mr. Lynch stated that only excess water would be used and that the test might be made today or any day following. Should it be necessary the valves could be opened and the water in the new reservoir turned into the main and used to combat fires.

Workmen have been busy during the past few days back-filling, or covering the concrete walls and top with earth. Practically all the covering has been placed around the walls. Over the top there will be a depth of two feet of earth, and this will be completed within a few days.

MENACE TO HISTORIC TREE.

Walnut Under Which Settlers Met to Thank King to Be Cut Down.

Gloucester, N. J.—The old walnut tree on the banks of the Delaware at this point under which the west Jersey proprietors meet annually in continuance of an ancient custom of their forefathers, who assembled there to praise King George for the land comprising Newton colony, is about to be destroyed

The land, owned by the Charles Haines estate, is to be sold, and the proprietors are making efforts to save the tree. Charles H. Rambo, a direct descendant of Pete and Gunnar Rambo, the Swedish guides and interpreters who paved the way for the Quakers to settle along the Delaware, and who is a prominent member of several patriotic organizations, has taken an interest in saving the tree. According to the ideas of those interested in the tree, it should be fenced in and a tablet suitably inscribed placed there to mark the spot.

Detroit Mother Finds One Enlisted, Other Ready.

Detroit, Mich.—Last May, when Colonel Roosevelt was making a patriotic war talk in the Detroit Opera House Mrs. Anna Neuer arose in her seat and said: "I have two sons. I offer them to the country."

Recently the mother, father, a daughter and the two sons sat down to supper and talked on the one big subject—a possible war.

Claude's silence was noticed by his mother.

"Did you?" she asked him quietly.

"Yes, this afternoon," Claude admitted.

Immediately after reading of his country's break with Germany the boy hurried to the naval recruiting station and made good his mother's pledge

"Earl will be ready when needed," said the mother, "and Pauline is anxious to fight as a nurse."

LEPER AT POKER GAME.

Norman Escaped Close Quarantine In Order to Sit In.

Wilkesbarre, Pa.—According to testimony offered in the mayor's court, Joseph Norman, a leper, who is supposed to be under strict quarantine night and day, left his home at night and went to the home of a neighbor, where he engaged in a poker game.

A fight occurred, according to the testimony, while the game was on, and efforts were made on the part of some of the poker players to steal a $3 pot.

While the police were getting to the scene to make a raid Norman left by the back way, climbed over several fences and entered the house which has been his prison for the last eighteen months. It is costing the city and the central poor board $3,000 annually for the care of Norman and his family and for guarding his home.

WAR BONDS A GIFT TO BRIDE.

One of the Bridegroom's Presents to Her Is a British Flag.

New York.—An international romance, in which the British flag and a gift of five $1,000 Anglo-French bonds played a part, culminated in the marriage of Miss Florence Ethel Emeric, daughter of Mrs. Lillian Emeric, formerly of London, and Ezra C. Bingham, chief engineer of the Waldorf-Astoria.

One of the presents from the bridegroom to the bride was a large Union Jack, made to order, of heavy silk. The bonds were given to the bride by her aunt, Mrs. Fanny Henning. The ceremony was performed by the Rev Dr. W. John Murray of the New Thought church. Miss Katherine Johnson was maid of honor and Frederic J Eisler, assistant manager of the Waldorf-Astoria, best man.

Dectectives Work Proves A Hazard

As a result of an attempt at sleuthing a local attorney may be embarrassed by postal authorities and legal action if rumors current Monday are true.

It is said that the attorney in question in company with a woman entered a Walnut street home Saturday night in an effort to secure a letter supposed to have bearing on a recent land transfer sensation. Report has it that the attorney and the woman were neatly trapped by the man of the house who had hidden himself in the bathtub.

HORSES IN A STAMPEDE.

Fight Starts, Fences Give Way Before Mad Rush, Four Killed.

New York.—Three hundred horses who were awaiting shipment to the allies and were being held at the stock pens in the railroad yards of the Jersey Central railroad, stampeded in Jersey City.

The stampede started in a fight between two horses, at which the others took fright. The fences about the shelter gave way before the mad rush. Before the stampede ended four horses were killed. One fell into the Morris canal in the Greenville section, two were killed by locomotives, and one, which got to Bayonne with forty others, broke his leg and had to be shot. Forty were rounded up in the New York Bay cemetery. Employees of the yards said that all the uninjured ones were finally brought back.

VOICE FLOATS OUT OF SKY.

Radio-Telephonic Communication From Aeroplane to Land Station.

San Diego, Cal.—For the first time in the history of American aeronautics radio-telephonic communication between a military aeroplane in flight and a land recruiting station was established at North island. The test was held under the joint supervision of Captain Clarence Culver, holder of the world's record for long distance radioaeroplane communication, and E J. Simon of New York, radio engineer.

Flying at an altitude of 800 feet in a tractor biplane piloted by Captain Herbert Dargue, Captain Culver succeeded in transmitting several messages a distance of approximately three miles Captain Culver's voice came floating out of the blue sky as clear and distinct as though he were but a few feet distant.

End Indigestion Or Stomach Pain In Five Minutes

"Pape's Diapepsin" makes sick, sour, gassy stomachs feel fine.

Time it! In five minutes your sour, acid stomach feels fine. No indigestion, hearburn, or belching of gas, or eructations of undigested food, no dizziness, bloating, foul breath or headache.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in sweetening upset stomachs. It is the surest quickest and most certain stomach antacid in the whole world and besides, it is harmless.

Millions of men and women now eat their favorite foods without fear—they know Pape's Diapepsin will save them from such misery

Please, for your sake, get a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store and put your stomach right. Don't keep on being miserable—life is too short—you are not here long, so make your stay agreeable. Eat what you like and enjoy it, without dread of acid fermentation in the stomach.

Pape's Diapepsin belongs in your home anyway. Should one of the family eat something which don't agree with them, or in case of an attack of indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis or stomach derangement due to fermentation and acidity, at daytime or during the night, it is handy to give the quickest, surest relief known.

1716 Heels on 1916 Feet

You wear a 1916 hat, a 1916 suit.

But you wear 1716 heels if you wear leather heels.

You drive a 1916 car, use 1916 office or shop equipment, live in a 1916 house.

But your leather heels are out of date.

Leather heels are as obsolete as mustache cups, celluloid dickeys and powdered periwigs. They aren't adaptable to modern conditions.

This is the day of rubber heels. They are individual shockabsorbers—spine savers—that make the hardest pavements as soft as a Brussels carpet.

They are made for 1916 pavements.

Bring your heels up-to-date. Wear O'Sullivan's Heels of New Live Rubber.

When you buy your new shoes, buy them O'Sullivanized.

Insist on O'Sullivanized shoes: the new live rubber heels give the greatest wear with the greatest resiliency.

Look At Child's Tongue If Sick Cross, Feverish

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thoro cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, fun of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative": they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

She Used to Be Cross Before Tanlac Cheered Her Up.

CAN WALK UP STAIRS NOW

"My daughters and grandchildren think I'm a different woman. I am. I even get down on the floor and romp with the little ones. A short time ago I was so cross I wasn't company for anyone."

This is the tribute that Mrs. H. E Hill, 3551 West 65rd St., Cleveland paid to Tanlac.

"There was a time when I couldn't walk up to the corner store without fear I wouldn't be able to get back alone," she said. "But that time has passed—thanks to Tanlac. I was run-down for years and couldn't do my housework. I had to leave most of the work to my two daughters. Last winter was the worst and I was told that unless I got better I would not have long to live.

Lived In Damp Quarters.

"Our house, too, might have made my condition worse. For it was on low ground and was a trifle damp That made me worse. Before taking Tanlac I couldn't walk up and down the stairs. I had to sleep downstairs. I can get up without any help now.

"My back used to hurt me so bad that I couldn't stoop over. Now I can get down and mop the floors.

Was All Run Down.

"My stomach gave me no end of trouble. No matter what I ate, gas formed and I had a heavy, bloated feeling, I was nervous, and even the noise made by my two little grandchildren in their play annoyed me.

"I surely am thankful for what Tanlac has done for me. And I feel so happy over it that I have already told several friends about the result it brings."

Get Tanlac today if you are not feeling right. Delay in health matters is dangerous.

Tanlac may be obtained in Coshocton at Page & Lorenz, Druggists.

Andean Keyholes.

A curiosity of the Andean villages are the doors of the houses which are hard to open and hard to close, but which, despite the intricacy of the locks, admit the air freely on all sides. Harry A. Franck describes one such door, writing in the Century Magazine of the town of San Pablo, Colombia. The keyhole was in the shape of a swan; others in the town, and all through Narino, have the form of a man, horse, goose and a dozen other ludicrous shapes. These homemade doors of Andean villages never fit exactly, and their locks always have some peculiar idiosyncrasy of their own, so that by the time the traveler learns to unlock the door of his lodging without native assistance he is ready to move on."

A Man's Best Armor.

In all intercourse no armor is so becoming and so protective as a gentlemanly demeanor; and when we think, how intimate, diversified, unavoidable, indispensable, how daily and hourly are our relations with our fellow men we cannot but become aware how much it concerns us, for our pleasure and our profit, and for a deeper satisfaction, to be affable and gentlemanly, and arm ourselves with a bearing that shall be the expression of self-respect, purified by respect for others.—George Henry Calvert.

Like A Boy at 50 Bubbling Over With Vitality—Taking Iron Did It

Doctor says Nuxated Iron is greatest of all strength builders—Often increases the strength and endurance of delicate, nervous folks 200 per cent. in two weeks time.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Not long ago a man came to me who was nearly half a century old and asked me to give him a preliminary examination for life insurance. I was astonished to find him with the blood pressure of a boy of 20 and as full of vigor, vim and vitality as a young man; in fact a young man he really was notwithstanding his age. The secret he said was taking iron—nuxated iron had filled him with renewed life. At 30 he was in bad health; at 46 he was careworn and nearly all in. Now at 50 after taking Nuxated Iron a miracle of vitality and his face beaming with the buoyancy of youth. As I have said a hundred times over, iron is the greatest of all strength builders. If people would only throw away patent-nonsense and nauseous concoction, and take simple nuxated iron, I am convinced that the lives of thousands of persons might be saved, who now die every year from pneumonia, grippe, consumption, kidney, liver and heart trouble, etc. The real and true cause which started their diseases was nothing more nor less than a weakened condition brought on by lack of iron in the blood. Iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food into living tissue. Without it, no matter how much or what you eat, your food merely passes through you without doing you any good. You don't get the strength out of it and as a consequence you become weak, pale and sickly looking just like a plant trying to grow in a soil deficient in iron. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous run-down people who were ailing all the while, double their strength and endurance and entirely get rid of all symptoms of dyspepsia liver and other troubles in from ten to fourteen days time simply by taking iron in the proper form. And this after they had in some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit. But don't take the old forms of reduced iron, iron acetate or tincture of iron simply to save a few cents. You must take iron in a form that can be easily absorbed and assimilated like nuxated iron if you want it to do you any good, otherwise it may prove worse than useless. Many an athlete or prize fighter has won the day simply because he knew the secret of great strength and endurance and filled his blood with iron before he went into the affray, while many another has gone down to inglorious defeat simply for the lack of iron.—E. Sauer, M. D.

NOTE—Nuxated Iron, recommended above by Dr. E. Sauer, is not a patent medicine nor secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists and whose iron constituents are widely prescribed by eminent physicians everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black nor upset the stomach; on the contrary, it is a most potent remedy in nearly all forms of indigestion, as well as for nervous run-down conditions. The manufacturers have such great confidence in Nuxated Iron that they offer to forfeit $100.00 to any charitable institution if they cannot take any man or woman under 60 who lacks iron and increase their strength 200 per cent. or over in four weeks' time provided they have no serious organic trouble. They also offer to refund your money if it does not at least double your strength and endurance in ten days' time. It is dispensed in this city by Page & Lorenz, Seigrist & Williams and all other druggists.

POISON GAS BEETLES.

Fumes With Which Bombardiers Keep Their Enemies at Bay.

Most people think that the use of poison gas in warfare is a purely human, or perhaps one should say inhuman, idea. Yet the plan has been adopted by nature. Certain kinds of beetles known as bombardiers and called by scientists Brachinus make free use of poisonous fumes to keep their enemies at bay.

A typical species known as Brachinus crepitans is largely attacked by certain ground beetles. These ground beetles are very active and can easily overtake the bombardiers. Just as they get within reach, however, a very strange thing happens. The bombardier has the power of ejecting a peculiar liquid, which, when it comes into contact with the atmosphere, bursts into a sort of pale green flame. This is immediately followed by a kind of smoke.

Now, this smoke has a remarkable effect upon the pursuer. No sooner do the fumes come into contact with the ground beetle than the creature is blinded and stupefied. A strange paralysis overtakes the insect, and it seems unable to move any farther. Quite a while elapses before the ground beetle recovers. In the meantime the bombardier makes good his escape.—American Boy.

Why Pedestrian Suffers.

Judge—"The prisoner claims that he tooted his horn before he ran over you." Complainant (much damaged)—"Maybe he did, your honor, but what good is that when a car is traveling faster than sound?"

Death of Death.

The time may not be far off when to lose a friend by death will be hardly more than to have him cross the ocean; when our own passing will be merely the happy setting sail for a new country. It may be that in the great war, which has furnished an orgy such as the world has never before seen, death as we have known it in all its agony of parting and uncertainty, has at least been glutted to the full, has reached its climax and must hereafter diminish. Oh, people of the world, all things have died! It may be that now at last death itself is dying!—Atlantic Monthly.

Sub Warfare Caused By England's Violation Of International Rules

BERLIN, FEB. 27—Prof. Hans Delbrueck, head of the department of history in Berlin University, and also an influential publicist with a large following in his capacity as editor of Preussische Jahrbuecher, discussed the submarine situation today.

"For the great body of the German people," he said, "the intensified submarine warfare has never been anything but a terrible weapon of defense against the enemy's wanton breach of the law. The British government also has justified its naval measures as a reprisal against the German measures.

"But the test of good faith was applied by America to both the German and English claims of acting only in reprisal. The joint note of February 1915, asked both parties to forego the practices. Germany responded to the test by declaring her willingness; England refused. Had England accepted there never would have died a single non-combatant by starvation in Germany, nor would any have lost their lives on the high seas thru a German submarine."

"Do you believe that the intensified U-boat campaign would cease if England discontinued those illegalities to which you refer?" Herr Delbrueck was asked, and he replied:

Evasive Answer on U-Boats

"We know that international commerce will automatically resume just as soon as the unlawful British blockade is raised. The blockade seems less frightful to you than the submarine warfare; it is further away and less dramatic.'

"If there had been any outlook for peace on the lines suggested in President Wilson's address, our decision would have been different," Professor Delbrueck continued, "but we were confronted, under the entente's terms, with dishonor and dismemberment."

Replying to a question as to his views concerning the rights of non-combatants at sea, Doctor Delbrueck said:

"The rights of non-combatants at sea can only be respected if they themselves respect their duties as non-combatants. British merchantmen have sunk U-boats by putting up sham defenses and by misuse of neutral flags. These have not been isolated acts, but are the results of a policy announced by the British admiralty. In this manner some of our submarine captains have paid with the loss of their vessel and crew for their efforts to safeguard the lives of non-combatants.

"I will now speak of something which causes us uneasiness.

"Many statements have been cabled to Germany about hostile acts committed or about to be committed by the United States against German subjects and German ships. We were glad to learn finally that these were based upon falsified news dispatches originating in entente sources.

German Bitter Against America

"Misstatements repeatedly are reaching you thru the same channels, reporting outbursts of violence against the persons and property of Americans in Germany. I feel that I ought to state very frankly how the German people feel toward America at this moment.

"They feel bitterness and believe they have been wronged. Hundreds of thousands have lost fathers, husbands and sons thru American ammunition. Hundreds of thousands of young men of Germany have been maimed for life with American ammunition.

"In all wars the manufacturers of arms and munitions have supplied the belligerent nations, but the manufacturers of arms are not exponents of humanity. Never before were the industries of peace of a country not a belligerent in the war organized to kill. Your people forged for our enemies these tremendously effective weapons of death, and we protested in vain.

"Then we were to receive from you bread for our non-combatants. Our enemies interfered. You said their interference was illegal, but you did not make your protest effective.

"Our people are asking with growing bitterness the reason for this discrimination. There may be many legal and technical answers to this question but our people feel that, had there been a will, there would have been a way.

"We have been told time and again that the principle of the freedom of the seas is deeply rooted in your race Again and again, we have heard repeated your president's words: "I will contend for the freedom of the seas, from whatever quarter it is violated, and without compromise'

"Our people were told that the principle of the freedom of the seas demanded that the war on the seas should be so conducted that non-combatants on sea or land would be spared the sufferings of war. Thus, our people patiently looked on, month after month, while a continuous stream of American ammunition poured into England and Russia unchecked by our submarines.

"Now, we are going to fight out this battle. The German peoples had wished that it might be fought out as other wars had been—between enemy and enemy."

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

Wash the poisons and toxins from system before putting more food into stomach.

Says inside-bathing makes anyone look and feel clean, sweet and refreshed.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness, while the bowel pores do.

For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste material is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

A splendid health measure is to drink, before breakfast each day, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons, gases and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at the drug store but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on inside-bathing. Men and women who are accustomed to wake up with a dull, aching head or have furred tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, sallow complexion, others who have bilious attacks, acid stomach or constipation are assured of pronounced improvement in both health and appearance shortly.

PUT CREAM IN NOSE AND STOP CATARRH

Tells How To Open Clogged Nostrils and End Head-Colds.

You feel fine in a few moments. Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache; no hawking, snuffling, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate thru every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, and relief comes instantly

It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable.

HOT TEA BREAKS A COLD—TRY THIS

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour thru a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

Gompers Kicks On Prohibition

WASHINGTON, FEB 27—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, today made public a protest against the enactment by congress of a prohibition law for the district of Columbia In a letter to Chairman Johnson, of the house district committee, he asserted that such a measure would have an injurious influence upon more than 100,000 workers in the cigar industry, on whose behalf, as first vice president of the Cigarmakers' International Union, he protested

He declared prohibition by law to be "an iniquitous proposition" that "violates the fundamental principles of human freedom" and fails to accomplish the curing of the drink evil.

Food Stocks Running Low

LONDON, FEB. 27—Adolf von Batocki, president of the food regulation board, discussed food problems with the reichstag's advisory committee aturday, according to an Amsterdam dispatch. Batocki said that available stocks were scanty and must be carefully managed He added that the use of bread corn for fodder must be prevented.

Herr Batocki announced the intention of the food board to fix the price of potatoes for the entire year at 5 marks a hundredweight, except in the west and south of Germany, where it would be 6 marks. He emphasized the importance of a supply of bread corn and potatoes for everybody and milk for children at least.

Make Films For All The World

NEW YORK, FEB. 27.—More than 42,000 miles of motion-pictures films were exported from the United States during 1916, according to figures issued here today by the foreign trade department of the National City Bank Of this, 30,000 miles were "exposed" films ready to be used, containing mainly plays, travel pictures and news photographs. The remainder was unexposed film, to be used in taking scenes abroad

The total value of the exported films was estimated at $10,000,000. Great Britain being the chief purchaser.

RICH CARGO DESTROYED

NEW YORK, FEB. 27.—Sugar, valued at $100,000, was destroyed by fire early today on board the British steamship Baysura, which was being loaded with cargo for the entente allies at a Brooklyn pier. The vessel suffered damage estimated at $10,000.

At the same pier a year ago three steamships laden with supplies for the allies were destroyed by fire.

SPAIN REQUISITIONS FLOUR.

MADRID, FEB 27.—The government has requisitioned wheat flour in Madrid and neighboring towns to the amount of 1500 tons.

Clergymen For Administration

ALTOONA, PA., FEB. 27.—One of the strangest provisions ever noted in a will filed in Blair county is contained in the last testament of Rudolph McMullen, who died recently at his home in Tyrone township.

It directs that a portion of his estate, variously estimated at from $50,000 to $100,000, be turned over to three trustees, to be appointed by the court, one of whom shall be a Protestant minister, one a Catholic priest and the third a Jewish rabbi, to be distributed to the poor of Blair, Huntingdon and Cambria counties in five annual payments.

He named the Central Trust Company of Altoona as executor. He first makes provision for the member of his family and a few bequests to institutions, and then directs that the residue of his estate be placed in the hands of the clergymen for distribution.

McMullen says he prefers to have the trustees so constituted because he believes that the one will be certain to watch the other, and so every cent will be applied as he desires

It is understood the widow will refuse to accept the provisions of the will and may attempt to break it.

Contraband In Heels Of Shoes?

HALIFAX, N S, FEB 27—Rubber heels worn by German officials who are accompanying Count von Bernstorff, former German ambassador, on his homeward voyage aboard the steamship Frederik VIII, were removed today by the British authorities in the final stage of the close examination for contraband to which the party has been subjected in the last ten days.

All passengers on the liner have been passed. The Frederik VIII will depart as soon as 1700 tons of coal are put in her bunkers, which is expected to be finished by tomorrow morning.

LIFE OF THE WORLD.

Traditions That It Will Last Only 6,000 Years.

There is a general and widespread notion, which the curious investigator will find scattered throughout both medieval and modern literature, that the world will last 6,000 years from the date of its creation. An inscription in one of Martin Luther's books reads as follows: "Elijah, the prophet, said that the world had existed 2,000 years before the law was given (from Adam to Moses), would exist 2,000 years under the Mosaic law (from Moses to Christ) and 2,000 years under the Christian dispensation, and then it would be burned."

In the Etrurian account of the creation (by Suidas) there is a similar tradition, "The Creator spent 6,000 years in creation, and 6,000 more are allotted to the earth."

In the black letter edition of Foxe's "Acts and Monuments" (1632) there is a whole sermon given with the 6,000 year limit of the earth's duration as a text.

Some writers contend that the "six days" referred to in Holy Writ really mean 6,000 years and that the "seventh day" is a type of the coming millennium, or "Sabbath of a thousand years."

The psalmist says, "For a thousand years are in thy sight as yesterday" (Psalm xc, 4). See also II Peter iii, 8, which is even more specific.

Appreciation.

Ed (in motorcar)—"This controls the brake. It is put on very quickly in case of an emergency." Co-Ed—"Oh, I see; something like a kimono."

The Woman Who Does Her Own Work

Will find an ever constant joy in using the A-B or New Process Gas Range, because it lightens her work

When dinner is over she can take a damp cloth, rub away the dirt and grease, with swift, easy motions—and Her Stove stands forth—glistening and new again!

When the steak or chops are out of the broiler—soap and hot water—(with no danger of rust) easily remove the grease and moisture from the aluminum linings and the white enamel drip pan.

When she bakes—she can inspect through the glass oven door—at every baking stage, the bread, cake, pies or biscuits; she can see them clearly, for every corner is illuminated through a little window by the gas (or electric) light—the same light that makes the snow-white canopy and shelf-back and oven-side sparkle and glisten.

She presses a button to light any top burner—she needs no matches.

Ancient Marriage Custom.

Westermarck, in his "History of Human Marriage," says: "There is not a shred of genuine evidence for the notion" that general polygamy ever formed a real stage in the history of mankind. "Monogamy is by far the most common form of human marriage. It was so among the ancient people of whom we have any direct knowledge." And another authority states: "It seems probable that from the first human mating has tended toward monogamic unions." As for marriage laws, there is little doubt that religious sanctions are older than legal. In Christian countries the marriage laws are generally derived from the law established by the Christian church in the middle ages, which in turn drew many of its rules regarding marriage from the Roman civil law, and was also influenced to some extent by Teutonic ideals. It is worthy of note that the Greeks and Romans, in their history, show little or no trace of polygamy.

First Known Use of Glass.

At Pompeii we find the first example of the use of glass, the window at the south end of the tropidarium of the Forum baths being filled with a frame of bronze and glass. It was not until the first and second centuries, however, that the window came into common utility in all buildings.

SOCIETY NEWS

New Century Club Members Enjoy Novel Entertainment

A pleasing effect was obtained by combining yellow and white in the decorations used for the social meeting of New Century club Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. E W. Cresap, of South Sixth street. The members and their guests were seated at small tables, which were lighted with candles, each of which was tied with a bow of yellow tulle. Floral decorations were of jonquils and narcissi.

A four course dinner was served.

The program was exceptionally good. Mrs. C. E. Bryant gave a critique of H. G. Wells' widely read novel of the war—"Mr. Britling Sees It Thru." The review of the book was a comprehensive and unusually interesting one.

"Illustrated Songs" was a part of the program which was kept a secret by the committee in charge, and proved to be a delightful feature. To appropriate victrola music, members of the club posed in a large gilt frame, their costumes suggesting the different musical numbers. Mrs. Clifford Adams was "Sweet Genevieve"; Miss Charlotte Adams, in a highland costume, illustrated Scotch songs; Mrs. Harry Lybarger posed in Japanese costume for "Madam Butterfly"; "It's A Long Way To Tipperary" was represented by Mrs. David Jackson, in an Irish green frock; Mrs. M. A. McConnell, as a "coal black mammy," illustrated "My Old Kentucky Home"; Mrs. John Ricketts was a Spanish dancer, illustrating "La Paloma"; Mrs. A. S. Metzler was "Mother Machree"; "America," and other national songs introduced Mrs. C. E. Bryant, as Uncle Sam; Mrs. Carl Herbig, as The Goddess of Liberty, illustrated "Columbia the Gem of the Ocean"; the closing picture was Mrs. Edson Wilson, as "Peace," bearing a placard which read: "All Dressed Up and No Place To Go."

The clever idea of the illustrated songs was original with Mrs. Wilson, and at the close of the program she was presented with a lovely cluster of sweet peas, the gift of the club members. Mrs. A. S. Metzler was also given a bouquet of flowers.

Present at the affair were the members of New Century club, who are Miss Charlotte Adams, Mrs. Clifford Adams, Miss Helen Brown, Mrs. C. E Bryant, Mrs. E. W. Cresap, Mrs. M. D Custer, Miss Mary L. Custer, Mrs. Carl Herbig, Mrs. Davis Jackson, Mrs. Harry S. Lybarger, Mrs. W. S. Merrell, Mrs. M. A. McConnell, Miss Guida Renfrew, Mrs. J. H. Ricketts, Miss Sadie Smith, Mrs. D. O. Thompson and Mrs. E. H. Wilson. Guests of the club were Mrs. C. E. Ransom, Jr., Mrs. Harry Hunt, Mrs. Reed Wilkin, Mrs. Howard Robinson, Miss Lenora Hay, Mrs. Sarah Wilson, Mrs. O. P. McGinnis, Miss Katherine Johnson, Mrs. F. E. Pomerene, Mrs. Thomas Finney, of Alexandria, Egypt, Mrs. Thomas G. Brown, Mrs. A. S. Metzler, Mrs. C F. Barnes, Mrs. James R. Johnson, Mrs. W. S. Hutchinson, Mrs. E. C. DeHart, Mrs. F. C. Trott, Miss Carrie Hunt, Mrs. R. M. Love, Mrs. C H. Magruder, Mrs. William Eichelberger, of Dresden, Mrs. C. B. Hunt, and Mrs. George Edgar. Miss Nellie Cooper and Miss Mary Rue, former members of the club, were also present.

AN UNFASHIONABLE FISH.

Fine In Flavor and Food Value, Yet Our Anglers Discard It.

It seems as if there are fashions in fish just now as there are in wearing apparel. A fish that brings in German markets nearly four times as much per pound as our fresh mackerel and considerably more than haddock is thrown away by our fishermen because no one wants to eat it. Yet those who eat it praise it for its delicate flavor. Even the English like it. Every year they consume 3,000 tons of it. Yet we will have none of it.

This fish is known as the goosefish, anglerfish, devilfish and monkfish. True, its appearance is against it, but still the epicures in England and Germany demand it because it is delicious. Analyses made by the bureau of fisheries on samples show that goosefish contains considerably more protein than flounder, slightly more than a cod, a little less than halibut and considerably less than sirloin steak.

The goosefish has an average length of three feet and is broad and flat, somewhat resembling the flounder in general outline. The only way to get it, says a Philadelphia woman, is for the housewives to club together and demand it. At the present time fishermen do not take the trouble to bring it home, but discard it from their nets.—Popular Science Monthly.

CLAWS OF THE CANARY.

They Should Be Carefully Trimmed Every Few Months.

As a canary grows old it will be noticed that its claws get long and catch on the perches and wires as it hops about the cage. In a state of nature the activity of the bird as it moves about on the ground or among twigs and limbs keeps the claws properly worn down. Confined in a cage, the canary is less active, and, while the rate of growth of the claws remains the same, they are subject to much less abrasion.

It is necessary therefore to trim them with a pair of sharp scissors every few months. It is important to watch the condition of the claws carefully, as by catching they may cause a broken leg. In each claw a slender blood vessel extends well down toward the tip. This may be seen on close examination through the transparent sheath of the claw. In trimming cut well beyond this canal and take special care not to hurt the leg while handling the bird.

In cage birds the horny covering of the bill, as well as the claws sometimes becomes distorted through growth with our confined fowl. The tips of the mandibles may be pared down with a sharp knife, but care must be taken not to cut deep enough to reach the quick.—United States Department of Agriculture Bulletin.

Providing for Pedestrians.

Cities that are worrying over narrow streets and sidewalks may take a lesson from the recent action of Montevideo, capital of Uruguay, which has passed an ordinance requiring that all buildings be erected at least 32.8 feet from the boundary line, except in the busiest district, where 13.12 feet spare frontage must be allowed for walks and parking, and must be entirely free from steps, balustrades and ornaments.

THE HOUSEKEEPER'S PROBLEM.

The housekeeper, if she be a mother of a large family, is weighed down with worries and cares.

When a girl becomes a woman, when a woman becomes a mother, when a woman passes through the changes of middle life, are the three periods of life, when health and strength are most needed to withstand the pain and distress often caused by severe organic disturbances. Many Ohio people testify.

Dayton, Ohio.—"It is a pleasure to recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It was used for female trouble. I had used other remedies with little benefit. I was dragging around and tired-out but when I had taken several bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' I was much stronger and better; it did me more good than any medicine I ever took. I shall always recommend it and will use it again if I need it."—MRS. NELLIE M. ALLEN, 113 Buckeye St., Dayton, Ohio.

Coshocton, Ohio.—"I used Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription and found it a reliable woman's medicine. I used one bottle. It helped me just as I expected and was a benefit in every way."—MRS. C. B HOWELL, 345 5th St., Coshocton, Ohio.

If you will pay the mailing charges, Doctor Pierce will send you his cloth bound book of over 1,000 pages, newly revised with color plates and illustrations. Everyone should read and have it in case of accident or sickness in the home. Treats of so many subjects in such an interesting manner that knowledge of the human body is quickly and easily attained by all who read the book. Send 3 dimes (or stamps) for mailing charges to Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., and enclose this notice.

Constipation causes and seriously aggravates many diseases. It is thoroughly cured by Dr. Pierce's Pellets. One a laxative; two or three a cathartic.—Adv.

Completes Short Ag Course At O. S. U.

Having completed the eight weeks' course in agriculture at the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University, Columbus, Sydney K. Broome, of Coshocton, returned home Saturday.

The total registration in the winter courses at the University was more than 200, practically all being farm boys and men ranging in age from 17 to 53 years. Besides selecting studies from 31 different courses given during the winter months, the students were provided with special lectures each day at 4 p. m., and trips about Columbus on Saturday. It is believed that the popularity of the short agricultural courses will lead many Coshocton County boys and men to enter next year.

Courses in dairying, livestock, judging, animal husbandry, farm crops, and soil fertility were the most popular this year

John Pierce, 16, May Be At Border

John Pierce, aged 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Pierce, of Kenilworth avenue, is believed to be with the Fourth Ohio regiment at the border. Pierce was last seen August 3, wearing a guardsmen's uniform at Columbus. Mr. Pierce has been making a careful search for his son, but has received no definite information in regard to his location

Rev. Williams Is Commended

During the past week Rev. A. B. Williams says he has received a large number of letters and communications from prominent men and women in Coshocton endorsing his campaign against evil and commending him for the stand he has taken. Mr. Williams submits a letter from the president of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union which voices the sentiment of that organization.

The letter is printed as follows:

Coshocton, Ohio,
Feb. 24, 1917.

Rev. A. B Williams,
Coshocton, Ohio,

We wish to say to you, that we voice the sentiment of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Coshocton, O., which represents 105 homes, and stands for sobriety, decency and morality in society and in the home, and we do emphatically object to the evils that abound in our city. We feel that we have been openly disgraced. We thank you for the stand you have taken, in speaking out openly, against the things that so disgrace our city. We are with you

Very respectfully,
Mrs. E. J. McFadden,
President Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

4 Trainriders Are Arrested

THEATRES

With its tremendous record of success of many years duration—the real bond of merit—Pixley and Luders' melodious musical comedy, "The Prince of Pilsen," will delight local theatergoers when it will be seen at the 6th Street Theatre next Friday evening March 2.

Its melliflous score is too well known to discuss and its quality too popular to predict for it anything save continued success. The brilliant Luders composition has acquired world wide fame not only thru the medium of the stage but also by the numerous talking machines and piano-players which carry reproductions of the melodies to almost every city, town and hamlet. In forming the present company the sole idea was to excel all previous efforts to give an interpretation of supreme excellence. Of the old cast Edward T Mora a splendid baritone, the dashing young Prince, and Dorothy Delmore, the diminutive bell boy, are still with the company. Among the new faces will be seen Charles Horne in the comedy role, Hans Wagner the susceptible old German brewer from Cincinnati; Estella Birney, an actress of ability with charming personality, as Mrs Crocker; Marie Baldwin as the college girl; Eldora Stanford as the demure Nellie Wagner; Irene Duke as the vivacious Sidonie; and George Myers as Francois. Others in roles of prominence are Walter James, George C. Hall, and Frank MacEwan. The chorus of generous numbers of girls has been chosen with the utmost consideration for youth, beauty and vocal ability. The production to the minutest detail is new and the costumes, said to be a veritable parade of the latest Parisian styles, will provide a treat for the feminine eye. There will be an augmented orchestra of skilled musicians. Seat sale this morning at 9 A. M

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Fulton, N. Y. — "Why will women pay out their money for treatment and receive no benefit, when so many have proved that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will make them well? For over a year I suffered so from female weakness I could hardly stand and was afraid to go on the street alone. Doctors said medicines were useless and only an operation would help me, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved it otherwise. I am now perfectly well and can do any kind of work."—Mrs. NELLIE PHELPS, care of R. A. Rider, R.F.D. No. 5, Fulton, N. Y.

We wish every woman who suffers from female troubles, nervousness, backache or the blues could see the letters written by women made well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you have bad symptoms and do not understand the cause, write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for helpful advice given free.

VACANT LOT GARDENING

Governor Whitman says "the people must eat what they can afford to buy." That's all right so far as it goes. But the logical and final deduction from his words is that when they can no longer afford to buy they will have to starve.

Consumers have been caught this winter and caught properly. In a measure they were not to blame. But if they are caught next year they will have only themselves to blame. Regardless of what Governor Whitman says, there is no excuse for the prices people are paying for food stuffs. They are simply paying the penalty for their own indolence and extravagance.

A bushel of turnips that, thirty years ago was given away and that twenty years ago brot only a quarter and three years ago was not worth to exceed fifty cents, is now selling for more than $3. The same is true of cabbage and potatoes and the commonest vegetables. In a measure we are excusable this winter. We were caught napping—and were "soaked."

But another year has dawned. Spring and gardening time is near. There are enough vacant lots and back-yard gardens within the corporate limits of Coshocton to raise half the potatoes, cabbage, turnips and onions our people will consume in the course of twelve months. And the people may depend upon it that if they raise one-half of their needs in these four commodities, the price will be right with the fellow who raises the other half.

We are inclined to think there is entirely too much grumbling on the part of the average consumer at the prices he now has to pay for food stuffs. It is largely his own fault. If there were more garden plots in this town intensively cultivated there would be less rheumatism and indigestion and dyspepsia to be treated and, by the same token, fewer pills and drugs to be paid for and swallowed.

There is a fertile field of endeavor along this line for the Chamber of Commerce to engage in. There will be a problem to solve to get the vacant lot and the embryo potato and cabbage grower together. There are plenty of each. An introduction will prove mutually helpful from a physical as well as financial viewpoint.

UNIVERSAL MILITARY TRAINING

Here is a typical Bryan utterance on militarism from the current issue of The Commoner. It is entitled "The Proposed Return to Barbarism." Do you agree with the sentiment expressed enough to do what Mr. Bryan suggests in the last paragraph?

Those who hope for progress toward a higher civilization should lose no time in warning their senators and congressmen against the proposed return to barbarism now urged by some of the professional soldiers of the nation, who, securely seated on the backs of the people and drawing comfortable salaries for life, are seeking to commit the nation to false standards of honor and to turn the thots of its youth from peace to war.

Universal military training is entirely out of harmony with the history and aspirations of the American people. To advocate it as a peace measure would be like teaching young men to drink intoxicating liquor on the theory that it would advance the cause of temperance.

Universal military training is impossible without the cultivation of a military spirit, and the military spirit leads to war; it is the spirit that has involved Europe in the present war. The poison of militarism has been smuggled into this country and is being administered in deadly doses to such as will submit themselves to its influence. Even ministers, under its pernicious power, have gone about bellowing for war and crucifying afresh the Master who came into the world to substitute the philosophy of love for the philosophy of force and to call all men into an universal brotherhood.

Write at once to both your senators and your congressman. Do not delay.

There seems to be little or no objection from any source now against the suggestion that Harry Thaw be placed in solitary confinement. His agony must be about gone.

TRIALS OF AN INVALID

By Walt Mason

I have the author in my ribs and remedies won't rout it; when I have any pain disease, I like to talk about it. Oh, I could tell you, and repeat, about sciatic lumbago, and how the doctor makes me eat soft foods as bran and sago. And when I tell about the state of my old stomach's lining, it's wonderful how I orate—my eloquence is soaring. But when I try to tell the tale of aches that I'm enjoying, my neighbors say, "The subject's stale; long since we've grown right cloying. Come, talk of battle and retreat, where nations strive together, discuss a while the winter wheat, and analyze the weather. The peach crop's killed in Delaware, the late dispatches tell you, and yet you sit and maunder there of ailments that befell you. The woolen mills are shutting down, because they can't get teasles, and yet you roam around the town, and talk about the measles." There is no solace for the gent who's loaded with diseases; his healthy friends don't care a cent for all his sighs and wheezes.

PEOPLE'S FORUM

IS OUR CONSTITUTION DEMOCRATIC?

Editor The Tribune:

The statement was made in a recent controversy regarding government that the United States constitution is based on the theory that "all men are created equal." This is accepted by all the controversialists without question, tho they are quick to see the minor historical error.

History has been cynically defined by someone as, "a lie agreed upon," and in regard to the history of the American revolution and the succeeding events, as they are generally taught, the definition is entirely justified. The real history is forgotten and a horde of myths have arisen to take its place.

The government of the United States, like all other governments, is not based on the theory that all men are created equal, but on the opposite theory that the possessors of wealth alone are competent to rule and that any person so low as to have to work to live is not to be trusted in making laws. One competent historian in speaking of the constitution says: "Democracy—government by the people, is directly responsible to them—was not the object which the framers of the American constitution had in view, but the very thing they wished to avoid," and "The evidence is overwhelming that the men who sat in that convention had no faith in the wisdom or political capacity of the people."

Woodrow Wilson, who was an historian before he was a politician, says: "The government had, in fact been originated and organized upon the initiative and primarily in the interest of the mercantile and wealthy class," and "It had been urged to adoption by a minority under the concerted and aggressive action of able men representing a ruling class."

If it is treason to say that the government of the United States is based on class rule I am in good company.

The framers of the constitution had to deal with a people who believed and had fought for the principles stated in the Declaration of Independence, and so their problem was to create a government which appeared to give authority to the people, but in reality withheld it. How well they succeeded is evidenced by the history of bitter struggles of the working classes to gain some degree of political and economic power.

The United States constitution is one of the greatest frauds ever perpetrated on a gullible people, because, while its framers publicly claimed it to be a vehicle of popular rule, they, in their secret sessions had frankly stated that its purpose was the opposite. I believe in democracy, not because I believe in the omniscience of "the people" but because ruling classes have always, and I believe always will, rule in their own interest, and that all class societies are based on the slavery of the workers—and I protest against the perversion of history to make it appear that the United States constitution is democratic. Any progress we have made toward democracy has been in spite of the constitution.

Some historians regard the adoption of the constitutions as a counter-revolution which overthrew the principles for which the Revolution had presumably been fought. It was drafted by the convention without authority from the people, adopted in defiance of the basic law of the country and by methods that were questionable—to put it mildly. And its primary purpose was the protecting of so called property rights, not the welfare of the people.

Herbert Spencer deemed government as the means by which one class kept another in subjection—the United States is no exception to that rule.

Respectfully,
DAN McCARTAN.

AMERICANS LOST

ter, Elizabeth of Chicago, and Cedric T. Ivatts, a theatrical man. All perished from exposure in the life boats and were buried at sea. Three other passengers and six members of the crew are missing and it is feared they have also perished.

Unofficial dispatches from Queenstown early today said that ten American negro seamen were killed. A Queenstown dispatch this afternoon reported that "six boys" aboard the Laconia had perished from exposure and had been buried at sea. Only three boys names were included in the passenger lists and previous dispatches had not mentioned the death of any boys.

SURVIVOR TELLS OF ATTACK.

QUEENSTOWN, FEB. 27. — The commander of the German submarine which sank the Cunard liner Laconia with a loss of at least two American lives stood on the deck of the undersea craft in plain sight of the passengers and gave final instructions which sent the liner to the bottom.

This was asserted positively here today by Dr. Benjamin E. Hawkes, one of the survivors.

"When the first torpedo struck the vessel," said Dr. Hawkes, "I was in the doctor's room playing cards.

Everybody rushed to the life belts and the whole company got into the boats as soon as possible. There was absolutely no panic. The conduct of the officers and crew was splendid.

"We had been in the life boats perhaps half an hour when we could plainly discern the submarine approaching nearer and nearer the aconia. Finally the submarine got so close that we could see the commander standing on the deck. The Laconia was listing heavily and pretty soon the submarine let go a torpedo. The shot went directly thru the engine room and she sank rapidly.

"After the liner had disappeared the submarine drew near several of the life boats and the commander shouted.

"'You are only a short distance from shore. The patrol (British) will save you.'

"With that he barked an order that was unintelligible and the submarine disappeared.

"Some of the last persons to leave the ship jumped into the water but they reached the life boats in safety, being hauled up by those already in.

"Beofre leaving, the submarine commander yelled at some of the life boats inquiring where the captain was. I suppose he referred to the Laconia's captain. No one was able to tell him, so he went away."

Other passengers corroborated the statements of Dr. Hawkes. All joined in praising the action and coolness of the Laconia's officers.

CONSUL FROST REPORTS.

WASHINGTON, FEB. 27.—In a message received by the state department today, supplementing his report of last night, Consul Frost at Queenstown announced that it is now "positively confirmed" that Mrs. and Miss Hoy of Chicago lost their lives when the Cunard liner Laconia was torpedoed by a German submarine. He also states that "Cedric B. Ivett, New York, another American, probably is lost." Consul Frost says:

"Add to Americans the following. Missing 12 of whom five drowned and eight, including Hoy ladies, died of exposure and were buried at sea. There are six hospital cases, none believed grave.

First torpedo struck shaft engine of steamer going 17 to 18 knots. Engine stopped and listed starboard so that most boats got off that side. Twenty minutes later, when most of the boats were cleared, submarine fired second torpedo striking engine port side. Ship sank in about 15 minutes from first torpedo. Had fired six rockets which were seen by admiralty patrol. Wireless also used up to last moment. Boat scattered two or three mile in swells 12 feet high. Burned flares were picked up seriatum between 3 and 4 a. m. 26th.

(Signed) "FROST."

The number on board, as given in various messages, does not agree. The state department believes it is due to an error in trasmission and gives the message out as received, subject to correction.

Mrs. Montford Wright, of Willow Brook, went to Dresden Tuesday to attend the funeral of her aunt, Mrs. Ella Brightlock.

Valuable Scientific Discovery.

A new process for extracting ferro alloys of manganese and silica from slag hitherto considered practically worthless, has been discovered by two students of the Carnegie Institute of Technology. This discovery means a great saving to steel manufacturers, as the prices of these two materials have more than trebled since the beginning of the war.

Until you serve it, you will never know how much pleasure coffee can give

A million other women have learned what good coffee means—they have solved this question in their homes for all time.

They know now that to get good coffee, the coffee itself must be right.

There are hundreds of varieties of coffee grown. The coffee itself must be put up by men who know coffee. Arbuckles' Coffee is. It is put up by Arbuckle Bros., the greatest coffee merchants in the world. There is more of it sold than any other coffee—that is why they can afford to give you the biggest value for your money.

And no matter how good coffee itself is, if it isn't well taken care of, it makes a poor drink. Arbuckles' Coffee is put up in sealed, dust-proof packages, carefully wrapped to protect it from moisture, dirt and store odors. It arrives in your kitchen with all its original strength and flavor.

Have in your home the enjoyment of drinking the coffee which, of all the coffees in America, is the most popular! Solve your coffee problem in the identical way a million other women have. Serve Arbuckles' Coffee tomorrow—know how much pleasure coffee can give.

Coral Cutting.

Although Venice is a center of tourist trade in coral and shell cameo coral itself is neither gathered nor worked there. The manufacture is confined to Torre del Greco. Polishing coral in quantities is an interesting feature of the work. It is placed in a small bag of strong raw linen, together with crushed pumice stone and the bag is shaken in a special tube with a hole for drainage under a small column of water. When the coral is well pumiced it is washed and passed into a clean bag. Instead of the pumice the "pulimento" (red or white) is used, and the former operation repeated, first without water, then with a little, and finally with much water, when the coral has become brilliant. What the "pulimento" is the inhabitants of Torre del Greco, while so proud and jealous of their industry, have never taken the trouble to find out, as, indeed, what the "aqua osigenata" (hydrogen peroxide) is, which is used to change the color of the coral, black when extracted from the sea, to red As for the "pulimento," it is not different from that which the jewelers use to polish precious stones.—Cleveland Leader.

PUBLIC SALE—Mar. 3, at 1 P. M. Horses, cattle, hogs. William Shaffer, Willow Brook, Ohio.

PUBLIC SALE

PUBLIC SALE, March 1, at 1:00 o'clock, horses, cattle, pigs, hay, corn, and farming implements. E. J. Kempf, Fresno, O., Route 2.

PUBLIC AUCTION

PUBLIC AUCTION—I will offer at Public Auction on Thursday, Mar. 1, 1917, at 1:00 p. m., standard time, on the premises, the farm of the late Thos. J. Headington. This farm contains 152 1-2 acres and is located about 3 1-2 miles northeast of Keene and 9 1-2 miles north of Coshocton, on mail route 3 out of Coshocton. It is on one of the main north and south roads crossing the county leading from Coshocton to Millersburg and only one hill on the road to the county seat.
This is smooth hill land, no part steep or rough; is in a good state of cultivation, fencing good and clear of briers and brush; a never-failing spring in nearly every field.
Good big buildings, a bank barn 36 x 72, a nice big nine room house, summer kitchen, small sheep barn, other necessary out buildings. Well water at house ,large cistern piped into barn. Also, spring in barn lot. Plenty of fruit for home use and timber for farm repairs. Church just across the road, country school a mile away and fine graded school at Keene.
This is one of the old homesteads in the county, having been occupied by the same family for over a half century; is in a number one good community and ready to make money on. This farm is appraised at $7000. It made over 11 per cent on this amount last season and little or no live stock was on the place. See Tribune every Saturday for terms.
L. R. Headington occupies the premises and will be pleased to show any interested party over the farm any time.

THE LOST KEY

By ESTHER VANDEVEER

John Brown, sexton of Trinity church, was about to go to bed, when, looking at a hook on which the keys of the church were wont to hang, he noticed that the bunch did not look so large as usual. Going to the hook, he took down the keys and found the one to the vestry door missing.

The sexton asked his wife if she had taken the key, and she said she had not. Had it been stolen?

But what object any one could have to steal the vestry door key was a mystery. There was nothing of value to a thief in either the vestry or the church. The plate was not kept there. Hymn and prayer books there were in plenty and cushions to the seats, but these were scarcely attractive to a robber.

So reasoning, the sexton went to bed and to sleep, thinking that some one had taken the key for an ordinary purpose and forgotten to put it back in its place. The clock on the church tower was striking 12 when Mrs. Brown awakened her husband.

"There's a light in the church, John," she said.

Brown bestirred himself and, looking out through a window, true enough, saw a dim light, not in the church, but in the vestry. Thinking that, after all, there might be thieves at work, he dressed himself and started for the church. While dressing and on his way he thought what he should do on his arrival and concluded to be guided by circumstances.

On reaching the vestry he stood on tiptoe beside a window and was thus enabled to look inside. The light within was so dim that he could not see very well, but he managed to make out a man and a woman. They were sitting together, and the man was talking earnestly to the woman, who seemed ill at ease.

While John was looking at them he heard a step not far from him, and some one entered the vestry door. As soon as the person was in the vestry John saw that he was a man in the vestments of the Episcopal church. He approached the couple, and John saw that they were talking together, though the two men were talking alternately to the woman, who said nothing. From the manner of all of them it appeared to Brown that they were using persuasion upon the woman. She seemed very young, about twenty years of age Finally the man who had been sitting with her, rising, took her hand and gently pulled her out of her chair With evident reluctance she stood beside him, and the man in canonicals began to read from a prayer book.

"This is a marriage," said John to himself, "quite likely a clandestine one Any way I don't like it that the rector should be beaten out of his fees in this way. I'll happen in and investigate."

So John went to the vestry door and knocked. Not hearing an immediate reply, he opened the door and entered. All three of the persons within stared at him as an intruder, the clergyman turning to do so.

"I'm looking," said John, "for the rector of the church. "There's a man dyin' and wants him at once."

"I'm the rector," said the clergyman, "As soon as I have married this couple I'll go with you."

"I thought Dr. Brook was the rector here," said John.

"I am Dr. Brook."

"You Dr. Brook! Not a bit of it I've heard Dr. Brook preach many a time. I know him well."

"What's that?" said the woman starting. "Isn't this Dr. Brook?"

"No, miss. Dr. Brook is an older and a larger man than this gentleman."

"Oh, Henry," she exclaimed reproachfully, turning to the man beside her, "you have deceived me!"

"Who are you, and why do you come here at this time of night?" said Henry to the sexton gruffly.

"Well, seein' as there's no use in makin' any further pretense, I'm the sexton of this church, and I come here to find out what was goin' on in the vestry. I missed the key and suspected somethin' was wrong. Just now my wife saw a light here, so I tumbled out o' bed, and here I am."

At this the woman turned to the man she called Henry and, white with anger, said:

"You villain! You contemptible dog! This explains your story of your parents' objection to your marrying me. This is why you must marry me clandestinely, is it? Don't ever let me see your cowardly face again!"

The man tried to calm her; but, paying no attention to him, she stalked out of the vestry and disappeared in the darkness. Henry made a lunge at the sexton, but the old man was spry enough to get out of the way, and Henry rushed from the vestry, followed by the man in canonicals.

Brown found the missing key in the vestry door, and, locking up, he went home and to bed.

The next morning when he was at work in the church the lady of the evening before entered. The first John knew of her presence he felt her arms about his neck. When the embrace was over she told him her story, which differed but little from such cases. She was a girl without fortune, and the man she was to have married was a rich man's son. The man in canonicals was a fake clergyman. She admitted that John had saved her from a terrible fate, but she was unable to reward him.

However, when the congregation of the church heard of John's good work they made up a handsome purse for him.

Sharpness of Madmen.

In Sir William Butler's autobiography there is an amusing story about six insane soldiers who escaped while the corporal who had brought them on board the troopship left at Durban and who mingled with the 1,800 sane men on the decks. The problem of the voyage was to find who were the six madmen. By the time the boat reached Cape Town twenty-six men were officially under observation, and not one of the six was among them.

In the end the crazed half dozen were identified as those who had taken an especially eager part in the lunatic hunt.

Books and Apples.

A young lady in a library job got tired of fussing round in stuffy alcoves. So she chucked it all and went to raising apples. She never made money hand over fist, as she expected, but she always declared she had won out on the exchange. "I used to like an occasional apple with my books," she declared, "but the present plan of having a book now and then with my apples is a heap better." — Collier's Weekly.

Hard to Suit.

"This horn you sold me won't make any noise," said the customer.

"Well, I thought you wanted it for your grandson," said the clerk.

"So I did."

"Gracious! But you're a hard man to please!"—Chicago News.

Some Feat!

Looking to the Future.

"What are you whipping Runt for?" asked Mrs. Johnson. "What has he been doing?" "Nothing, that I know of," replied Mr. Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge. "But I'm going to town this evening, and he's sure to cut up some devilment before I get back. So I'm just licking him now to have it over with."—Judge.

A STUDY IN GOVERNMENT

and fundamentally tied up with the very life of industry. Formerly, the popular conception (as it is the present legal conception), was that the government was simply an instrument to redress violations of law and repel invasion. A negative rather than positive concept. It is not 100 years since Jefferson was proclaiming that: "That government is best which governs least."

Recognition of the new and popular conception of the function of government should not longer be delayed. The government should in fact become a business enterprise—an industrial institution. He who would write a good charter should have read long and earnestly in the book of nature. He should be especially well informed as to the present and prospective needs of civilization and industry. He should know psychology. A knowledge of the law is needed to bind the new conception of the functions of government onto the old concepts so as to permit a transition to the new with a minimum of friction. Aside from this, the law smells so much of the must of the 16th century as to be of no service in suggesting the industrial aspects of a charter. The knowledge a "Captain of Industry" should have at his finger tips is essential in forming a charter that will meet present and future requirements.

Formerly there were no limitations on the rulers, their power was absolute. This became intolerable and limitations on their power were devised. These limitations came to be referred to as the constitution. Thinking this was a way out of tyranny, oppressed peoples sought to work it with such zest as to make their proposed limitations look impracticable or intolerable to the rulers, when the rulers drew able minds about them and hit upon the expedient of proposing limitations on the people under the guise of limiting the rulers. Not seeing thru the trick, the people have generally fallen for it with the result that it is hard to tell whether present day constitutions limit the rulers or the people, the most. Such rivalry should not enter into the drafting of any charter.

No mind has yet appeared capable of drawing a general program or charter that went much into details, which has worked satisfactorily. Events happen in such unexpected manner as to defy any detailed rules, made in advance, to properly meet the circumstances presented. Hence any charter prepared need not be lengthy and should avoid all but essential details and leave the council free to legislate to meet contingencies as they arise, unhampered by foolish restrictions in the charter.

Whatever the restrictions, or however difficult it may be to place candidates for the council in nomination, those interests most inimical to the general welfare may always be depended upon to get their candidate nominated. They make this a study and are specialists in this line. Hence limitations in the way of nominating candidates for the council would in practice, amount simply to a limitation on the people. It should be easy to place a name on the ballot at any time up until the time the ballots are printed, and such regulations as may be made should be of such character as that any self-respecting person would not hesitate to comply with them.

Election compaigns should be short. Business and all people generally, (save the ins and the outs among the professional politicians), have come to dread them as a pest because of the filth and mudslinging. Long campaigns tend to keep out persons who would make the best and most desirable officials, because of the knavery and skuldudgery practiced by professional manipulators of the floating vote.

The peddling of petitions has broken down of its own weight. All nominations should be made by a limited number of electors, say five, appearing in person at the city auditor's office and signing an order for the name of their candidate to go on the ballot.

Initiative and all other elections should be called by the people by a limited number of electors appearing in person at the city auditor's office and signing an order for the election.

The number of signers required should be small, not over four per cent, and the council should be empowered to annul one such order for election as a check on the ordering of elections for frivolous reasons. There should be no elective officers save councilmen and by all means they should be elected by the unanimous choice or proportional representation plan.

The best charter would not fix the terms of councilmen but would leave it to the council itself, and to the people to order an election for new councilmen when the old council had outlived its usefulness. A fixed time for holding elections gives the professional politicians, whether they are the ins or the outs, the opportunity they want to prepare for it. Of course all executive and administrative power should be vested in a city manager to be appointed by the council and to hold his office indefinitely until removed by council or by the people at an election. He should be empowered to appoint and remove all municipal officers and employes save members of council and city manager, provided that he might remove members of the police and fire departments only in manner now provided, or as may hereafter be provided.

Napoleon's maxim that: "The tools belong to him that can use them" should be made the rule and any civil service that may be provided should not prevent a speedy ridding of the city's service of incompetents and sinecures. The childish notion that an oral or written examination of a few minutes or a few hours duration is sufficient to determine fitness for important office or place, should be discarded, as some school boards have already done, notably: the public schools of Columbus, Ohio, where promotion of pupils is based on the grades made during the term and they have discarded "examinations" as a determining factor, in promoting pupils, and examinations should be discarded as a dtermining factor in the filling of appointive offices and positions.

ADDENDA.

I have now completed the "Study of Government" in nine articles. My thanks are due to a patient public and to each of the two newspapers for their kind action in publishing the articles and giving them the widest publicity.

We have at times observed the helplessness of the government in emergencies and in times of national calamity (the present food stringency for in stance), and we occasionally criticise and, some of us sometimes swear at the government or some of its agencies for the absurd manner in which it proceeds to do things or does not do them at all.

Few realize that industry and civilization have progressed so far ahead that the government is far behind or is out of sight altogether.

Every form of the government effecting citizens of Coshocton, township, city, county, state and national—is the product of and was produced in an era when present day civilization and industry were unknown and the government as at present constituted was never conceived or intended to meet present day conditions, and hence it necessarily fails or is unsatisfactory; just as an attempt to carry on present day commerce with 17th century canal boats and stage coaches would be unsatisfactory.

In my articles I have advanced no new ideas but may have presented some thots in a light that was slightly new to some of my readers. This together with my inherent inability to make myself as clear as I would like, may have led to some confusion, and three students of government, my friends: Judge Nicholas, Mr. House and Mr. Meek, in published statements seem to have misconceived my purpose or mis-read some of the articles. As to them I am pleased with their criticism and feel grateful because persons of their standing and ability have read by articles.

Government—the collective means by which the whole people act together—is the most important of human agencies. In some form it powerfully effects every moment of our lives and it should engage our liveliest and best thots.

Progress comes only as people become ready for it. When Coshocton is ready to take a step forward by casting off its ancient form of government which is now outgrown—by calling an election under favor of section 8 of Article 18 of the state constitution and chooses a commission of 15 well informed, forward looking citizens who will frame a charter that will meet the needs of industry and progress; if I can then feel that my "Study in Government" has slightly contributed to such a beneficient accomplishment, I will be abundantly repaid for my effort in writing it.

Coshocton, February 28th, 1917.
